Great Books and Videos

“What is reading but silent conversation.”
~Walter Savage Landor~

Spotlight on These Items ...

The Power to Spring Up (2009)

— Who says that students with disabilities can't go to college? Why should education stop after high school? The Power to Spring Up shows that postsecondary learning is both possible and rewarding for students with significant disabilities.

Can the World Afford Autistic Spectrum Disorder? (2009)

— Dr. Tantam's book takes us through a fascinating tour of a world where social experience is essentially the co-creation of people engaged in fast, broad, and essentially nonverbal inter-action. Words are slow, linear, and often obfuscate rather than illuminate others' intentions. This vastly neglected area of research is also likely the single greatest challenge for individuals with autism.

First Steps In Intervention With Your Child With Autism (2009)

— “One of the major difficulties for a child with autism is developing social empathy in the same way as their peers. The earlier this problem is addressed, the more effectively these skills can be improved. This book champions initial intervention with young children, but the practical ideas and strategies can also be usefully applied to children of school age if they are at an early stage of communication.”

Great Books and Videos

"We shouldn't teach great books; we should teach a love of reading."

~B.F. Skinner~

Spotlight on These Items ...

Poems to Learn to Read By (2005)

— "By interweaving original poetry and imaginative suggestions for literacy-linked curriculum development, Betty Bardige and Marily Segal foster an appreciation of children's keen powers of observation, their curiosity, and their delight in language."

Alphabet Kids: From ADD to Zellweger Syndrome (2009)

— Alphabet Kids have disorders that are often concurrent, interconnected or mistaken for one another, for example, the frequent combination of ASD, OCD, SID and ADHD—hence, 'Alphabet Kids'. If a doctor only diagnoses one condition, he or she may have missed others. As the rates of these disorders dramatically rise, "Alphabet Kids" explains it all.

Practical Approaches to Early Childhood Professional Development (2008)

— The key to improving the early education of all young children, including those with special needs, is the effective preparation and development of the professionals who work with them. Written by distinguished early childhood and early intervention leaders, this book provides an organized and accessible format for building quality and qualifications into professional development programs.

NEWS AND EVENTS

Pack your bags and head to Colorado for the Autism Society National Conference and Exposition, July 8 – 11, 2015!

Why pay a dollar for a bookmark?
Why not use the dollar for a bookmark?

~Fred Stoller~

We, of course, would love to see you and your colleagues there, but we are asking for your help. Please join us and spread the word about this fantastic opportunity! Help us promote the Autism Society 46th Annual National Conference far and wide so all who might benefit can attend.

The Autism Society's National Conference brings together the expertise and experience of a wide range of autism community members to empower attendees to make informed decisions, advocate effectively and obtain needed services and supports. Typical attendee demographics are: 63% professionals (22% educators, 16% BCBA, SLP, OT, PT, Social Worker, etc.), 24% parents or family members, and 10% individuals with ASD. Our conference offers three full days of 100+ outstanding workshops covering the entire autism spectrum and the whole lifespan. We provide several CEUs and have varied presenters that cover a wide-range of topics.

Registration costs are very reasonable and individuals with ASD can request registration fees be waived if financial need exists.
