Let's Talk: Navigating Communication Services and Supports for Your Young Child with Autism (2016) - Communication is often a parent's number-one concern when a young child is diagnosed with autism. With so many interventions available, how can families be sure they're choosing the best option for their child? This straightforward book gives you the practical knowledge that you need to evaluate communication therapies and treatments and make sound decisions rooted in evidence.

The Sibling Slam Book: What it’s Really Like to Have a Brother or Sister with Special Needs (2005) - Give teenagers a chance to say what's on their minds, and you might be surprised by what you hear. That's exactly what Don Meyer, creator of Sibshops and author of Views From Our Shoes did when he invited together a group of 80 teenagers, from all over the United States and abroad, to talk about what it’s like to have a brother or sister with special needs.

Life and Love: Positive Strategies for Autistic Adults (2006) - Written for adults on the spectrum, this book is divided into two sections: life and love: The author describes and suggests concrete ways to deal with some of the problems faced by those on the autism spectrum. The author includes a broad spectrum of suggestions for different types of relationships and weaves these together with the core concept of self-esteem.
