Greetings Everyone!

I hope everyone had a wonderful Thanksgiving. (Can you believe it is about to be a new year!?) Anyways...

For this month's greeting, I wanted to start off by taking a moment to thank my two wonderful graduate assistants, Rebecca Eells and Morgan Montgomery, for all of their hard work over this past semester.

Thanks you two!

Also, I wanted to announce that shortly we will start featuring a number of new supported employment books for the collection. Once they are catalogued and processed into the system, these titles should nicely supplement the supported employment section. So be on the look out for these in subsequent newsletters.

The library circulation statistics for the month of November are as follows:

- Requests: 104
- Checkouts: 50
- Renewals: 12
- New patrons: 5
- Pamphlets sent out: 15
- Articles sent out: 145
- ILL Requests: 6

Happy holidays!

Dasher

This article was provided by Janet Jendron.

Dasher is an information-efficient text-entry interface, driven by natural continuous pointing gestures. Dasher is a competitive text-entry system wherever a full-size keyboard cannot be used - for example,

- * when operating a computer one-handed, by joystick, touchscreen, trackball, or mouse;
- * when operating a computer with zero hands (i.e., by head-mouse or by eyetracker);
- * on a palmtop computer;
- * on a wearable computer.

The eyetracking version of Dasher allows an experienced user to write text as fast as normal handwriting - 29 words per minute; using a mouse, experienced users can write at 39 words per minute.

Dasher can be used to write efficiently in any language.

Dasher is free software. It's hard to explain; you really need to see a demonstration.

Here's the web site:

A good movie demonstration is at

<http://www.inference.phy.cam.ac.uk/dasher/Demonstrations.html>

Under the "Movies for Windows systems"

Choose "Streaming video demonstration (1.5 mins asf) including audio commentary."
