Help Us Identify Postsecondary Education Options for Students with Intellectual Disabilities

The Institute for Community Inclusion at the University of Massachusetts and TransCen, Inc. have received a federal grant to identify college programs or services that support students with intellectual disabilities. This information will be used to identify the characteristics and outcomes of these postsecondary education programs to further understand their impact on individuals with intellectual disabilities.

If your college and/or school system has a program or provides services. OR

If you know of any programs or services that exist in your community, region, or state, PLEASE let us know, even if you are not directly involved.

*Intellectual disability is a disability characterized by significant limitations both in intellectual functioning and in adaptive behavior as expressed in conceptual, social, and practical adaptive skills. This disability originates before the age of 18. Intellectual disability is the currently preferred term for the disability historically referred to as mental retardation. (AAIDD)
